Q12: Is this presentation intended for the 2017 APAAC Annual Prosecutor Conference?	Yes

Q13: Please provide a paragraph description of presentation to be used in the announcement flyer:

This presentation would focus on a review of new legislation, case law, and court rules impacting DUI/traffic cases. Helpful tips and reminders to assist the attendees with any issues raised by the new laws would also be provided.

An additional DUI related topic of interest is usually selected and discussed in greater detail. I try to select an issue/topic that is commonly being raised in DUI trials at the time of the summer conference. Accordingly, I do not know at this point what that issue will be.

Q14: Please provide a brief biography (about a paragraph) for the presenter(s):

Beth Barnes serves as Arizona's GOHS Traffic Safety Resource Prosecutor (TSRP) through a grant from the Arizona Governor's Office of Highway Safety and the Arizona DUI Abatement Council. In this role, Ms. Barnes serves as a resource for law enforcement, prosecutors, judges, and the community to more effectively address DUI and other traffic safety issues. She has been an assistant city prosecutor with the City of Phoenix Prosecutor's Office for more than 25 years, specializing in the prosecution of DUI cases. She has tried hundreds of DUI cases and responded to well over 1,000 motions and appeals.

Q13: Please provide a paragraph description of presentation to be used in the announcement flyer:

Informant testimony should be used with great caution. "A prosecutor who does not appreciate the perils of using rewarded criminals as witnesses risks compromising the truth-seeking mission of our criminal justice system." United States v. Bernal-Obeso, 989 F.2d 331, 333-34 (9th Cir. 1993). Numerous studies report that informant testimony is the most common cause of wrongful convictions. During this presentation, Jon Eliason, Division Chief of the Special Victims Division at the Maricopa County Attorney's Office, will discuss the ethics and pitfalls of using Confidential Informants. He will describe the critical role informants often play in developing a case, identify potential hazards in informant testimony, and navigate the case law governing CIs. Jailhouse informants are of particular note in the presentation and several practical tips and approaches to jailhouse informants are given during the presentation.

Q14: Please provide a brief biography (about a paragraph) for the presenter(s):

Jon Eliason is a Division Chief of the Special Victims Division at the Maricopa County Attorney's Office. In this capacity Jon supervises all felony sex crimes, domestic violence, child abuse, and auto theft cases. Jon is a career prosecutor, successfully conducting numerous jury trials. Jon believes that the most important thing a prosecutor can do is seek to be ethical in all aspects of prosecution and to work to improve the quality of life for the community.

Jon sits on the Governor's Human Trafficking Council, City of Phoenix Human Trafficking Task Force, the Arizona Forensic Academy, and is a board member of the Arizona Foundation for Women.

Jon was previously the Mesa City Prosecutor. During that assignment Jon implemented many new successful protocols for the prosecution of domestic violence and DUI cases.

Jon has received numerous awards and commendations for his work. He has been recognized by the US Attorney's Office, Maricopa County Attorney's Office, the Governor's Office of Highway Safety, and numerous cities throughout Arizona for his work and dedication as a prosecutor. Jon is a frequent lecturer at schools, police departments, and legal conferences, and has taught for the Arizona Prosecuting Attorney's Advisory Council, the National District Attorney's Association, and the Association of Prosecuting Attorneys.

Jon received a Bachelor's of Science from Brigham Young University and his JD from Temple Law School.

Q13: Please provide a paragraph description of presentation to be used in the announcement flyer:

THIS IS SUBJECT TO REVISIONS:

This breakout session would address the substance and manner of making objections in court. Too often, prosecutors do a poor job making objections at trial because they (and the court) don't understand the nuances and law behind trial objections. Do you know the difference between Argumentative and Assumes Facts not in Evidence? Between objecting to a compound question and questions calling for narrative answers? Do you know when experts may speculate and when they may not, and when to object to their background or experience? Can you figure out which part of a long question may be objectionable and which parts are not, and what to do if you don't know? What about if you hear a question, you just KNOW it is objectionable, but you can't decide on which ground to state your objection? This breakout session will try to explain those nuances and discuss the legal reasons behind the most common and useful trial objections. We will also discuss the manner in which objections are made, and discover strategies to ensure that the court actually heeds your objection rather than simply overruling it and moving on. Finally, we will discuss how to respond to bad defense objections, like the ever-favorite and mostly wrong "leading" objection

Q14: Please provide a brief biography (about a paragraph) for the presenter(s):

Blaine Gadow is an Assistant Attorney General and former Deputy Maricopa County Attorney with 22 years experience in combined criminal and civil practice. He has tried over 100 felony jury trials, mostly involving complex sex or child abuse cases. He has handled dozens of civil depositions involving complex medical malpractice cases, and has made or responded to hundreds of objections in those cases. Blaine has also worked as a criminal defense attorney (for 1 year) and has experience viewing the courtroom from that side as well.

Q12: Is this presentation intended for the 2017 APAAC Annual Prosecutor Conference?	Yes, Comments: We think this could be a great topic for a general session. Many trial prosecutors handle Rule 32 proceedings (especially those not in Maricopa or Pima County), and it is also important for all prosecutors to generally understand Rule 32 proceedings so that they create a comprehensive trial record to prevent issues down the road in a Rule 32 proceeding and/or habeas corpus proceeding. We could also do this presentation as one of the break-out sessions.

2017-2018 Presentation Proposal Form

Q13: Please provide a paragraph description of presentation to be used in the announcement flyer:

This presentation will cover the nuts and bolts of Rule 32 proceedings in Arizona. The focus will be on what prosecutors can do in Rule 32 proceedings to prevent future problems in habeas corpus proceedings in federal court. Examples of recurring issues will be provided along with practice tips and suggestions on how to protect the record and ensure federal courts give deference to state courts' decisions.

Q14: Please provide a brief biography (about a paragraph) for the presenter(s):

Alice Jones - Alice Jones is an Assistant Attorney General and a Unit Chief for the Criminal Appeals Section at the Office of the Arizona Attorney General and currently handles criminal appeals and habeas corpus cases. She received her B.A. in 2005 from the College of William and Mary, and her J.D. in 2010 from the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law at Arizona State University. During law school, Alice was awarded the Truman R. Young, Jr. Prosecutorial Fellowship. After law school, Alice completed a judicial clerkship at the Arizona Supreme Court for the Honorable Justice Robert M. Brutinel, and then joined the Criminal Appeals Section at the Office of the Arizona Attorney General in 2012.

Diane Meloche - Diane Meloche (formerly Acosta) graduated in 1996 from Wayne State University Law School in Detroit, Michigan. She worked as an Arizona Assistant Attorney General in the Criminal Appeals Section from 1997 to 2007. There, she represented the State on direct appeals and federal habeas corpus proceedings. In 2007, she became a Deputy Maricopa County Attorney and handled State's appeals in both felony and misdemeanor cases, special actions, and post-conviction relief proceedings. In 2011, she was appointed as the Appeals Bureau Chief where she currently supervises 12 appellate attorneys, 2 paralegals, and a host of research clerks. She also provides training and assistance to deputy county attorneys throughout the Office. She has participated in oral arguments before Arizona appellate courts and the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Q13: Please provide a paragraph description of presentation to be used in the announcement flyer:

JIRO DREAMS OF SUSHI is the story of 85-year-old Jiro Ono, considered by many to be the world's greatest sushi chef. He is the proprietor of Sukiyabashi Jiro, a 10-seat, sushi-only restaurant inauspiciously located in a Tokyo subway station. Despite its humble appearances, it is the first restaurant of its kind to be awarded a prestigious three-star Michelin Guide rating, and sushi lovers from around the globe make repeated pilgrimage, calling months in advance and shelling out top dollar for a coveted seat at Jiro's sushi bar.

JIRO DREAMS OF SUSHI is a thoughtful and elegant meditation on work, family, and the art of perfection, chronicling Jiro's life as both an unparalleled success in the culinary world and as a loving yet complicated father.

Winner of the Academy Award for Best Picture, THE ARTIST is set in Hollywood 1927. George Valentin (Jean Dujardin) is a silent movie superstar. The advent of the talkies will sound the death knell for his career and see him fall into oblivion. For young extra Peppy Miller (Berenice Bejo), it seems the sky's the limit - major movie stardom awaits. "The Artist" tells the story of their interlinked destinies.

What do these films have to do with prosecution? Our all-star panel will discuss these films, and more, and talk about lessons you can learn from almost any medium to apply to your practice. For example, we will discuss adopting the philosophy of Jiro to perfect the "little things" that you do daily in your practice. Or how you shouldn't be like George Valentin and refuse to adapt to new technologies.

This class can be 60 or 90 minutes and is envisioned as the opening session on Wednesday afternoon. We feel that it will be a light hearted, but thought provoking class designed to make attendees look at the big picture of their practice, while having fun discussing movies. We will show trailers from the movies and then have a discussion about how we can take principles from the films and incorporate them into our practices.

Lineups, showups, and eyewitness identifications are staples of TV dramas. But how do they in real life? What is the law governing eyewitness identifications? And what do you need to do to get your eyewitness's identification admitted in court? This presentation will give a comprehensive review of the law governing eyewitness identifications, with a particular focus on the differences between federal law and Arizona law. It will also explain the science behind accurate identifications and explore some of the ethical issues surrounding the use of eyewitness identifications in criminal trials.
